our mission

When humanity discovered fire 1.7 million years ago, it opened a window into the deep mysteries of life. In those times, it was believed that fire was a fragment of the sun untouchable in the sky. The warmth of the fire kept them warm in cold nights, and its light guided them in the dark hours. This mystic power was not just something a physical necessity; it was also an inspiration that illuminated their souls. Gathering around the fire at night became a ritual that emotionally warmed people. Around the fire, stories, myths, and the fundamental secrets of life were shared and passed down from one generation to another. This ritual strengthened the bonds between people and became one of the elements holding communities together. Therefore, the tradition of gathering around the fire symbolizes humanity's relationship, strength, and solidarity with one another. In the light of this ancient culture, as The Favilla family, we bring you together around the fire and enable you to warm up, lighten and cook.
